

CIRCUSES | CRUELTY UNDER THE BIG TOP

- Wild animals used in circuses are forced to perform unnatural and sometimes dangerous behaviors for our entertainment
- Travelling circuses cannot begin to replicate a suitable living environment for wild animals; the accommodation is rudimentary and contributes to poor welfare.
- Constant travelling is a stressor for wild animals.
- Audiences in close proximity to wild animals creates risk of injury.
- Overall, the use of wild animals in circuses is cruel, unethical, and dangerous.

Don't be a clown – boycott circuses that use wild animals!
